THE FIRST FOCUS CAMPAIGN FOR CHILDREN LEGISLATIVE SCORECARD

In 2021, the first year of the 117th Congress, the federal government made its most significant investment in children in First Focus on Children's 16-year history of publishing the Children's Budget. Through the passage of the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act, the share of federal spending dedicated to children increased from 7.64% to 11.15%.

Through the leadership of President Biden and many of the Members of Congress recognized in this report as Champions and Defenders of Children, our nation's lawmakers recognized that every aspect of the lives of children was being negatively impacted by the COVID-19 global pandemic and the ensuing economic recession. Children, who are far too often treated as an afterthought in federal policymaking, were made a top priority.

In the response by President Biden and Congress to the dual crises, long overdue investments were made in family economics, education, early childhood, child care, family medical leave, child nutrition, and health care. Investments were also made to address this global crisis internationally.

As an example of ARP's scope, Congress passed and President Biden signed the ARP's improvement of the Child Tax Credit (CTC) to make it fully refundable for the first time since its creation in 1997. ARP also increased the CTC to $300 a month for children 0-5 and $250 per month for kids 6-17. In the middle of a global pandemic and economic recession, the combination of these provisions cut child poverty in this country by over 40 percent.

Unfortunately, those provisions and others of importance to children were temporary and many have expired in 2022. Again, many of the Members of Congress identified in this report are fighting hard to extend many of these critical provisions, but child advocates are concerned that Congress has yet to act and may return to the old, tragic, downward trend in the share of federal investments in our nation's children.

If Congress fails to act, this would have corresponding tragic consequences for children, as it would lead to increases in child poverty, child hunger, child homelessness, and child abuse, and would threaten education, early childhood, child care, and health care services.

Children stand at a crossroads. Congress will either prioritize children or fall back into a pattern of paying "lip-service" to kids while failing to make them a priority. Congress will either pursue an agenda that improves the health, education, safety, and well-being of children or fail them.

Now, more than ever, children need policymakers to be Champions and Defenders who are willing to focus on, support, raise their voices for, and attach their names to legislation that would improve the lives of our nation's children. These Champions and Defenders must also actively oppose legislation or regulatory and administrative actions that would harm kids.

Consequently, this report is about accountability. The Legislative Scorecard recognizes those lawmakers in the 117th Congress who actively worked to make children a greater priority in the halls of Congress. This report also identifies the eight worst performing lawmakers who seem to be going out of their way to actively harm children. We must urge them and others to do far better for our kids and our nation's future.

THE 2021 CHAMPIONS AND DEFENDERS FOR CHILDREN

This year's 120 Champions and Defenders of Children include 40 senators and 80 representatives who have stepped forward to make "the best interests of children" a top priority in the Senate and House in 2021. They have all taken affirmative steps to positively address the problems facing children. Based on votes and bill sponsorships, the report also identifies one senator and seven representatives who perform the worst for our kids.

What makes the 120 Champions and Defenders unique is that they have repeatedly used their legislative roles to raise and move to the forefront those issues that are important for children. Champions consistently pursue policies and legislation that make children a priority across the full array of issue areas. Defenders more often than most consider and take action in support of the best interests of children in a number of votes and by sponsoring or cosponsoring of bills.

Others in Congress, who may just fall short in terms of points to qualify as a Champion or Defender, have also taken important votes or played a leadership role for children on some important aspects of policy that would either improve the lives of children or protect children from harm. We applaud these lawmakers for their work in those areas.

As Congress debates and sets the nation's federal priorities on policy and budget matters, the Champions and Defenders cited in this report make children a "first focus" of their work in making public policy decisions. And as advocates for children, we want to take this opportunity to spotlight the 2021 Champions and Defenders of Children and express our gratitude and appreciation to them for their strong support for children while simultaneously urging the eight worst to do far better by our kids.

METHODOLOGY

Children rely on adults to ensure that their needs are addressed. Our Legislative Scorecard is intended to be a tool to hold our federal policymakers accountable for representing and addressing their needs. It honors those who use their voice to champion and defend the needs of children.

The FFCC Legislative Scorecard is based on a points system that has been innovative since its creation in 2010. Since its inception, we have scored legislative votes in which children would be significantly or predominately impacted, which is typical of many other legislative scorecards. In addition, when legislators take public actions on votes or in adding their names as sponsors or cosponsors to key legislation (both positively or negatively) that impacts children, our Legislative Scorecard captures that information.

Points are awarded to lawmakers for sponsoring or cosponsoring legislation of importance to children or taking key votes in support of the "best interests of children." Furthermore, points are taken away when Members of Congress sponsor or cosponsor bills or take votes that would be harmful to children.

Other scorecards often seek to "score" votes and legislation that may impact children, but legislator support or opposition may be unrelated to their support or opposition to the needs of children because kids are only a minor issue in the legislation. In contrast, the FFCC Scorecard measures positions on votes and legislation that are either specific to or that would disproportionately impact children. Thus, the FFCC Scorecard is the most child-focused national scorecard, as it more truly reflects the support or opposition to the "best interests of children" than other more general scorecards.

As the nation's leading bipartisan voice for our nation's children, First Focus Campaign for Children also highlights the most extensive array of issues that impact children in our scorecard.

» Key Votes: Accompanying our Legislative Scorecard is a "Key Votes" page on our website. FFCC recognizes that not all votes are equal. Therefore, we weigh major votes more heavily than minor votes. We also give members extra points if they show political courage to vote in the best interests of children despite an opposing position from a majority of their own party. For a list of Key Votes for and against children, see page 7.

» Key Bills: The FFCC Legislative Scorecard also recognizes that lawmakers often negotiate and make decisions on legislation well before House and Senate votes. Consequently, rather than just tracking votes on bills and amendments, the FFCC Legislative Scorecard includes a more in-depth analytical framework.

Our Scorecard awards additional points to policymakers from our website's "Bill Tracker" based on their sponsorship and co-sponsorship (original sponsors are awarded more points) of key legislation that helps children. We subtract points away from those lawmakers sponsoring or cosponsoring bills that harm children. For a list of Key Bills, see page 10.

Finally, we also award points based on membership in congressional caucuses specific to children and actions (including major letters, floor speeches, hearings, etc.) policymakers engage in that would positively or negatively impact children.

ADDENDUM: TRENDS IN THE LIST

Women in Congress were
2x more likely than men to stand as Champions or Defenders for children in 2021.

THE GENDER GAP PERSISTS ON CHILDREN'S ISSUES

The Legislative Scorecard also tells us a great deal about who and where support is coming from. For example, women in Congress were 2.1 times more likely to be a Champion or Defender of Children than their male peers in 2021 (36% of the women currently serving in Congress earned this distinction compared to 18% of men). This is down from a 2.7-to-1 margin in 2020, but women continue to fare much better on the Legislative Scorecard than men. In the House of Representatives, women represent about one-quarter of the membership, but 13 of the top 15 (86.7%) House Champions for Children were women. In contrast, of the 100 worst performing House members on the Legislative Scorecard, 86 (86%) were men.

THE REGIONAL DIVIDE ON CHILDREN

First Focus Campaign for Children's Legislative Scorecard also identifies significant differences in support for our nation's children by region.

- » The Northeast continues to lead all regions: 40% of House and Senate members (48 members in total) from the Northeast (Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware) were Champions or Defenders of Children in 2021.
- » The West continues to place second: The Western region (Alaska, Hawaii, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Nevada) led all regions in the 2019 report but now 27% of its House and Senate members (32 in total) were Champions or Defenders of Children.
- » The Midwest has fallen a bit: In 2020, 24% of House and Senate members (17 in total) in the Midwest (Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri) qualified as Champions or Defenders of Children but that number dropped to 14% in 2021.
- » The Southeast moved out of the basement: In 2020, the Southeast (Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas) had a paltry 5% qualify as Champions or Defenders. That percentage rose to 13% in 2021, as the members recognized from the region increased from 7 to 16.
- » The Southwest and Plains states are lagging far behind: The Southwest (Arizona, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, and Texas) and Plains states (Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, and South Dakota) states keep falling behind, with only 7% of their members (just 7 out of 99) qualifying as Champions or Defenders.

THE EIGHT WORST MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

In First Focus Campaign for Children's Legislative Scorecard, we have focused on the 120 top Champions and Defenders of Children. However, this begs the question — who are the worst performing congressional members?

That dishonor in 2021 goes to the following eight House and Senate members: Sen. Ted Cruz (R-TX) and Reps. Matthew Rosendale (R-MT), Chip Roy (R-TX), Ralph Norman (R-SC), Tom McClintock (R-CA), Jody Hice (R-GA), Marjorie Taylor Greene (R-GA), and Lauren Boebert (R-CO).

We call on them to do much, much better in 2022.

ARE CERTAIN STATES MORE LIKELY TO ELECT “PRO-CHILD” POLITICIANS OR DEMAND THAT LAWMAKERS SUPPORT CHILDREN?

Finally, the Annie E. Casey Foundation issues an annual report it calls KIDS COUNT¹, which uses various indicators of child well-being to rank states on how well they perform on kids’ issues. In looking at the top, middle, and bottom third of states, according to that ranking, it is interesting to note that there appears to be a culture of support for kids in certain states that either cause them to elect “pro-child” politicians and/or that create a demand of support for children by their policymakers.

A STATE-TO-STATE COMPARISON OF OVERALL CHILD WELL-BEING (2021)

- States Ranked 1-13
- States Ranked 14-25
- States Ranked 26-37
- States Ranked 38-50

Five of the top 10 states in terms of overall child well-being are in the Northeast, including Vermont (fourth), New Jersey (sixth) and Connecticut (eighth). States rounding out the top 10 are Utah (fifth), Nebraska (seventh), Iowa (ninth) and Wisconsin (10th).

Based on the correlation between high-performing states and top lawmakers in Congress, one might surmise that the public in certain states create expectations and cultures that prioritize children’s issues and cause policymakers to be more supportive of children’s issues. The lawmakers in the top 17 KIDS COUNT states are 2.8 times more likely to be Champions or Defenders of Children than the House and Senate members in the bottom 17 states.

For example:

- » AECF Top States: The highest-ranking states in the KIDS COUNT report for 2021 were Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Vermont, Utah, New Jersey, Nebraska, Connecticut, Iowa, Wisconsin, Maine, North Dakota, Virginia, Washington, Colorado, Idaho, and Wyoming. Of these states, 32% were Champions or Defenders.
- » AECF Middle States: The states in the middle of the KIDS COUNT rankings were Kansas, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Illinois, Montana, Rhode Island, Maryland, Oregon, Hawaii, New York, Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, Delaware, and California. Of those states, 26% were Champions or Defenders.
- » AECF Lowest States: The states at the bottom of the KIDS COUNT rankings were North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia, Arkansas, Arizona, South Carolina, Oklahoma, Alaska, West Virginia, Nevada, Texas, Alabama, Louisiana, New Mexico, and Mississippi. Of these states, just 11% were Champions or Defenders.
